

AIRDROP MAN

It was in the middle of the night when i decided to take a shower, because this relax me before going to sleep.

While I was doing that, I've put on my phone a podcast to hear to whom I was very interested, that talked about " How difficult is found a job later than the maturity exam "

The showering water made me feel relaxed at the moment, nevertheless my muscles contracted when I heard my phone rang. I thought that maybe someone could have sent to me a message on whatsapp, in fact it wasn't...

All wet I was going to see what kind of message had sent to me, an unknown has contacted me by an airdrop, this was very scared because for send that you must be near someone, moreover I was home alone. The photo that I accepted was totally black, maybe that could be an iphone mistakes, furthermore without panicking and thoughtless I started to put on my shirt when another message arrived to me...

My heart beat became very fast when I had accepted the photo. It was me while I was putting on my shirt, consequently I locked the door, near the kitchen I heard someone was walking. With the bath's scissors I started scan all the rooms.

I checked every single room and no one was there, nevertheless I heard noises in the basement, for this reason I decided to go there.

I went inside and the door shuts, the only way to save myself before someone came was call my friend Giovanni for helping me. Once he was in my house, he helped me go outside the basement, nevertheless he was busy, consequently he came back at home.

I run towards my bed to feel safe, when I was near to feel asleep my phone received a message, I decided to open the airdrop... he was behind me!

Only god knows how I escaped from him.

Diego Melchionda